

Main class includes most of the JavaFX framework for the project as well as the animation timer as well as event handlers for the menu.

Visualization class primarily handles the logic of receiving values updated by the user and then using these values to draw the modulo visualization and to then return this as a finished Canvas to the Main class.